The Foundation Repair Specialists

Manufacturer and Installer of Helical Piles for the Ultimate Foundation System

The Foundation Repair Experts

Foundation repair and stabilization are among the most serious and complex problems homeowners may face. If you suspect foundation damage in or around your home, contact Cantsink of Atlanta.

Cantsink of Atlanta specializes in foundation repair. As a result, we are uniquely qualified to diagnose your damage problem and suggest the right solution. Every foundation repair project is unique, so we look at each one from a broad perspective to determine the best and most cost-effective permanent repair solution that will result in the least disruption to your home, landscaping and lifestyle.

Cantsink of Atlanta was founded in 1988 as the only general contractor in this area specializing in foundation repair using helical piling. We have built a reputation as a leading innovator in the foundation repair industry. Since the company was founded, we've installed more than one million feet of helical piling—enough to stretch from Atlanta to Knoxville and beyond if laid end to end—in more than 10,000 area homes.

Satisfied customers are our best advertising. We'd be glad to provide you with several referrals you can call who will tell you about their experiences in working with Cantsink of Atlanta for their foundation repair and stabilization.

for Foundation Repair

Why Cantsink of Atlanta?

Foundation repair isn't a job for just any kind of contractor or home repair outfit. It requires specialized knowledge of all the intricacies involved in why a home's foundation is sinking.

Cantsink of Atlanta is the foundation repair expert, focusing exclusively on foundation repair and stabilization. Here are five reasons we are your best choice for foundation repair:

1. Experience: Our professional staff, which includes a staff engineer and licensed general contractor, has combined experience of more than 100 years in foundation repair and stabilization work. No other company in the area can match our experience and expertise.

2. Patented product design: We have perfected and patented a unique helix design that makes our helical piles 50 percent stronger than those of our competitors.

3. Cost-effectiveness: We are the only foundation repair company that manufactures helical piles locally in the Atlanta area. This enables us to eliminate middleman markups and achieve a price point our competitors can't touch.

4. Minimized disruptions: Foundation repair work usually necessitates some degree of disruption to the homeowner's property. Through our experience, we've learned how to use the right kinds of machinery and equipment to keep property and landscape disruptions to a minimum.

5. Environmental consciousness: We have taken a number of steps to help preserve the environment during the process of foundation repair, including using steel that is 99 percent recycled. Also, unlike conventional piers or pilings, the installation of helical piles does not displace soil, so there's no erosion.

Since 1988, Cantsink of Atlanta has helped thousands of satisfied customers solve their foundation problems, primarily using helical piles.

Testimonials

“Throughout the process, I found nothing but professionalism from Cantsink. I was communicated with every step of the way. The crew was here when they said that they would be. And, each day as they left, they cleaned up after themselves! Not only was I impressed, but many of our homeowners commented on how impressed they were with the work being done.

In addition to their professionalism, the work itself was high quality. They worked hard, performed with careful attention to detail and did not try to cut corners. I have nothing but respect for all they did. They treated our property as if it was their own. More than once I heard them say that they wanted to do the job right. And, they were not just giving this lip service, they were living it.

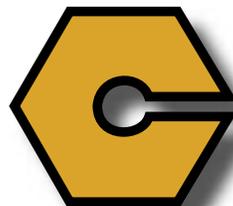

I have absolutely no reservation about recommending them to anyone, anywhere.”

~ Linda Potter, President, Devereaux Commons

“Cantsink of Atlanta was very easy to work with from beginning to end. They did the job in a timely manner, with no further damage from equipment to our driveway or landscaping. When they left, they cleaned up and you’d never know they were there!

Rick communicated with me very well, and the job was completed within budget. I was very pleased with the experience.”
